

Dear FCC:

I am a resident of Indiana, and am VERY happy with our Telephone Privacy Law. It has drastically reduced the number of unwanted telephone solicitations we receive. Before the law went into effect we received calls almost daily. Now we go for weeks without receiving any. This lack of unwanted interruptions has improved our quality of life at home.

I work in a marketing position, and so I understand the need for companies to "get their message out" and the potential impact on jobs. But the world we live in is busy enough, and we shouldn't have to deal with this in our own homes!

As the FCC considers potential legislation regarding "no call" laws please DO NOT IMPLEMENT ANYTHING THAT LIMITS OUR LAWS IN INDIANA! THE PEOPLE OF INDIANA ARE VERY HAPPY WITH THE LAW WE HAVE!

Best Regards,
